Grants

$3,000	Oklahoma Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services Science to Service Research Grant Award <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Project title: The Relationship between BMI and Subjective Well-Being in Females During Early Young Adulthood • Principal Investigator • Description: This project demonstrated that compared to participants in the “normal” weight range, participants classified as “overweight/obese” reported lower levels of life satisfaction. Further analyses found that among males, but not females, increases in body mass index (BMI) were associated with lower levels of life satisfaction and psychological well-being. 	Dec. 2007-Nov. 2008
$5,000	Texas Academy of Family Physicians Foundation <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Project title: Behavioral Health Integration at El Centro de Corazon: A Pilot Study • Co-Investigator • Description: The objective of this project was to determine current level of behavioral health integration and impact of behavioral health services within the primary care patient population. The primary care clinic in this pilot score the lowest on the Practice Integration Profile (PIP; a tool to measure level of behavioral health integration in primary care) in: Integration Methods/Shared Care Plans, which indicates a greater need for the medical and behavioral health providers to interact more often (to become a standard of practice) in daily patient care activities. The primary care clinic was encouraged to use a quality improvement measurement method (e.g., PDSA) to establish what changes will be made in order to make improvements to this area of the PIP. The clinic was also encouraged to re-take the PIP at least 12 months after changes are implemented to measure progress. 	January 2016 – January 2017
$49,000	American Academy of Family Physicians Foundation <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Project title: ROAR: Reflecting on Abusive Relationships. • Co-Investigator • Description: The aim of this study is to pilot test an approach for identifying women in abusive relationships, providing with them with a brief counseling intervention for 8 weeks, assigning daily telephone reports, and referring them for additional assistance if desired. 	January 2016 – December 2016
$7,479	Texas Academy of Family Physicians Foundation <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Project title: Predictors of Family Physician Wellness and Burnout: An RRNet Study • Co-Investigator 	August 2016-August 2017

- Description: In this study, we aimed to understand demographic, psychological, environmental, behavioral, and work-place characteristics that impact physician wellness and burnout, focusing on family medicine physicians and family medicine residents in Texas. This study is the first attempt to understand factors that are related to risk of burnout and investigate protective elements that can enhance physician wellness in Texas.

$1,235

University Health Foundation

November 2016-November 2017

- Project title: To go or not go? Likelihood of specialty mental health treatment for patients receiving care within then Primary Care Behavioral Health consultation model
- Principal Investigator
- Description: The purpose of this project was to determine patient satisfaction with behavioral health consultation (BHC) visits that take place within the context of the Primary Care Behavioral Health (PCBH) consultation model. Patient likelihood to seek out specialty mental health care services if behavioral health consultation services were not provided was also examined. Results show that 61% of the patients in the low-income primary care clinic would not attend a specialty mental health appointment. This project demonstrates how the PCBH model is a patient-centered approach to care and reaches populations that otherwise may not receive behavioral health services.

$10,000

American Psychological Foundation

July 2017-June 2018

- Project title: National Register Internship Partnership Fund Grant
- Description: The American Psychological Foundation (APF) and the National Register of Health Service Psychologists provide a $10,000 grant to fund new internship position through the Internship Partnership Fund. This grant, which is funded through the APF/National Register Internship Partnership Fund, are intended to help APA- and CPA-accredited internship sites offer additional internship placements, thereby helping to close the internship gap.

Wingspread Honoree Award (CFHA) 2018, 2021, 2022

In 1994, a group of early pioneers and advocates, led by Don Bloch, convened at the Frank Lloyd Wright designed home-turned-conference facility, Wingspread, to organize a national agenda for collaborative, family healthcare. These early leaders embodied innovative spirit, tenacity, entrepreneurship, and an understanding that we are each other's best teachers. Their passion and a fundamental commitment to the advancement of patient and family centered health care fueled the beginnings of the Collaborative Family Healthcare Association (CFHA).

Wingspread Honorees are individuals who both embody the characteristics of our early leaders and who have positively impacted the lives of their students, mentees, or colleagues through their work.
